

KING OF THE MOUNTAIN

Play king of the mountain by building a mountain as a group. Each person takes a turn adding something to the mountain (a couch cushion, a book, a cardboard box, etc...). The winner is the last person to put something on top without knocking down the mountain. The whole group wins if the tower ends up taller than all the players (adults too!)

Check out these awesome reads from the digital collection on our Kid's Page

Overdrive

- Awesome Engineering series
- Henry Builds a House
- The Lego Neighborhood Book
- Pete the Cat: Construction Destruction
- Where do Diggers Sleep at Night
- Dig, Scoop, Ka-Boom
- I'm a Bulldozer
- Iggy Peck, Architect
- Fly Guy Presents Castles
- Buildings and Structures

Bookflix

- Inch by Inch
- How Long is it?
- Totally Strange Buildings

ScienceFlix

- Building and Construction

TumbleBooks

- Goodnight, Goodnight, Construction Site
- Beavers are Geniuses
- Pop's Bridge

More Fun Things on our Kid's Page

To look at some really cool things people have built in the past, go to HOMEWORK HELP LINK choose WORLD HISTORY and then pick SEVEN WONDERS OF THE ANCIENT WORLD.

If you go to the MUSEUMS AND MORE link, then scroll down to THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTE MUSEUMS D.C.

Once on their website, click EXPLORE AND LEARN and choose FOR KIDS AND TEENS. Among their many fabulous games, activities, and digital exhibits is a game called TAMI'S TOWER that explores engineering concepts!